Premium Technical Analysis1. Product Description

The Goldessential Premium Technical Analysis publication is a chart-based framework built around the benchmark COMEX gold futures contract (GCxx) - used for price uniformity - that helps our clients in discerning and acting on chart patterns and breaks through key levels. It also projects patterns into the future, opening for a more accurate insight on how prices will likely evolve.

The publication is updated on a daily basis, allowing clients to shift fast, staying informed about key technical levels and developments that could act as a catalyst on price movements, in a market whose participants heavily rely on this technical background.

The Goldessential Premium Technical Analysis is written in-house by our leading technical analyst, and uses a unique and proven combination of line studies and technical indicators, which results in one of the basic pillars for other Goldessential publications.

In brief, the publication focuses on four categories:

- A visual overview of patterns and applied studies.
- Analyst comments on the price developments, including possible reactions if certain levels are violated
- A summary of resistance and support levels, alongside their importance
- A red-orange-green bar indicating the perceived technical outlook at any given price.
